RETAILER SPOTLIGHT

Bullfeathers  Knoxville, TN  Owner: Art MacCammon

Art MacCammon, owner of Bullfeathers, aka “The Fun Place” around town, knows the best ingredient for any secret sauce to success and longevity is hiring good people. That starts with his general manager, Rafaela Mays. She has seen the place through good times and bad, and she knows how to make the place “flow.”

And that was critical when it came to introducing a game like Keno to the bar three years ago. Rafaela was able to step in and train others on the game and make it flow with all of the other moving parts of the bar.

Now, Art says the key to Keno’s success at Bullfeathers is having big screens because his patrons need to be able to see it and want to watch it while they’re playing pool, for example. “We wanted to dedicate something substantial to it so it gets their attention, and that creates the environment for excitement,” MacCammon said.

Another key to Lottery success at Bullfeathers is how Art incorporates fun promotions to engage customers. “The gaming industry is a multi-billion dollar industry. Why would you not want to provide another form of entertainment for your customers?” MacCammon said.

“You have to be known for something, and winning is not a bad thing to be known for.”

Responsible Gaming Tip of the Month
